C. W. (Charlie) McKAY, Jr.

Alabama's Fighting Champion for Segregation

Alabama's Democratic National Committeeman represents the people of our State in the councils of the National Democratic Party.

He MUST be a man who will speak out, stand up and be counted for our pattern of life.

In our Legislature, Charlie McKay has fought for Segregation all the way. His opponent is Big Jim Folsom. "Darling of the NAACP," and host of Adam Clayton Powell, whiskey-drinking Negro Congressman from Harlem. McKay is a Sylacauga attorney, with a distinguished combat flying record in World War II. He is a Methodist, married, father of four children. We need him in the councils of the Democratic Party to keep on fighting for our way of life. Give him your vote and support.

Subject to Dem. Primaries May 1 & 29

This is the first time I have run for political office in Coffee County and I have been working hard in an effort to get around to see every voter in the county. However, I have been staying close to the bedside of my, 90-year-old mother who is critically ill and have not been able to get around as much as I would have liked. If I haven't been by to see you, I hope you will accept this as my personal call in your home.

In my campaign for this office, I have been working hard soliciting the vote and influence of every taxpayer in the county. I pledge that it you elect me as commissioner from this district, I will work harder to see that the people of Coffee County get full value from their tax dollars. If elected, I will conduct the affairs of the country me their tax dollars. elected. I will conduct the affairs of the county on a business-like basis with equal consideration being shown for each district.
